Athletic Club Formed Monday.

A number of young and middle aged men met at the Rink Monday and formally elected officers for an Athletic Club to be maintained in Wrangell. Considerable money has already been gathered from the Basket ball game and wrestling match which with entrance fees from new members will purchase equipment enough to make membership a pleasure from the start.

The officers elected were: President, F. Bronson; Vice President, M. Katzenmeyer; Secretary, F. Lewis; Treasurer, E. Carlstrom; Sargent-at-Arms, Chas. Lynch; Trustees, J. G. Grant, C. M. Coulter and Dr. L. P. Dawes. A committee on by-laws was appointed by the president. It has been decided upon that among the first purchase of apparatus, a set of gloves, wrestling trunks and tights and a punching bag will be about the first purchased. Children under sixteen are to be excluded, at least until the club is strong enough to handle the youngsters.

Local Prospectors Find $20 Ore.

Hunting for famous "Lost Rocker" they find quartz prospects. Assayer's returns on Humboldt show $20 per ton in gold and silver values.

Wm. Tamaree and L. J. Paul were in receipt by the steamer Humboldt, of returns from samples of ore recently sent to a Portland assaying firm showing twenty dollars per ton values in gold and silver in one of the samples from a prospect on Frederick Sound.

Shortly after the fishing season closed this year Tamaree and Paul made a trip to Frederick Sound in the launch, Starlight, looking for the famous placer mine "Lost Rocker." While Tamaree hunted the valley where they believe the Rocker is located, Paul scoured the hills and found several bodies of ore, samples of which were sent to Portland for assay.

48 C. P. Tungstens May Replace Present Lights.

If the proposed tests of tungsten lights, soon to be made by the city, prove satisfactory, and there appears to be no reason why they should not be, the streets of Wrangell will probably be better lighted by the first of the year with 48 candle power Tungsten light which will replace the small carbon filament lights now being used. The lights have been ordered through the Wrangell Electric Light & Power Company and will be tried out subject to approval by the city.

Lynch Gets Two in 3 and 7 Minutes.

Attracted by the novelty of the program mixing a wrestling match with a dance, about 200 gentlemen and an equal number of ladies were present at the rink last Friday evening and witnessed the short wrestling bout between Ed. Lynch and Alf Olsen, and enjoyed the dancing as soon as the big canvass could be spread.

The bout was short indeed. Three minutes from the signal to begin hostilities the Champion of Chemawa had the Terrible Swede's shoulders on the mat for fall no. 1 and a broken rib. After a truce of five minutes the maneuvers were on again, and lasted seven minutes before the second skirmish was decided by repetition of victory for Lynch who outclassed his opponent in agility. David Graham acted as referee for the bout, Chas. Lynch and Harry Ferguson acted as seconds. Thomas Dalgity was master of ceremonies and official megaphone for the evening.

Private Dale Goes Trapping.

Private Richard Dale of the local U. S. Telegraph Office force has obtained a short leave of absence from duty here and will spend about ten days with Chas. Roos in making a short trapping and hunting expedition to Canoe Pass.

Ketchikan Kiddies Whooping It Up.

The town of Ketchikan is suffering the effects of an epidemic of whooping cough and measles. Metlakatla has a similar epidemic of the diseases.

It Looks Like Another Hotel.

Action along waterfront lends credence to recent stories in Seattle and Juneau papers Lemieux will build but is silent on Seattle capital proposition. Says arrangements will be complete in three weeks.

Following upon the rumors along Wrangell's waterfront and the stories in Seattle and Juneau papers to the effect that Seattle capitalists were preparing to erect large hotels in Wrangell and Juneau, commencement of an extensive foundation on the tidelands adjacent to The Columbia & Northern cold storage plant, by A. Lemieux, proprietor of the Stikine Hotel and owner of the property facing Front Street and in front of the scene of latest building operations. To inquiries from the Sentinel, Mr. Lemieux admitted that it was his

At the antiquary's shop:

"I am commissioned, monsieur, to buy a Louis XIV console; have you one?"

"No, I have one that is a Louis XVI."

"Oh, that will answer. I am buying for a rich American. A matter of two Louis is nothing to him."—Paris Gaulois.

Ancient Cups.

The cups of the Assyrians closely resembled our saucers. Every nobleman and gentleman had his own cup and cup bearer, the latter of whom always accompanied him to a feast, carrying before him the cup of gold, silver, crystal or marble, which his master used only on state occasions. Saucers for cups were introduced in the latter part of the eighteenth century and at first were greatly ridiculed, the persons who employed them being said not to be able to drink without having two cups.

Mileage of the Blood.

The mileage of the blood circulation reveals some astounding facts in our personal history. Thus it has been calculated that, assuming the heart to beat sixty-nine times a minute at ordinary heart pressure, the blood goes at the rate of 207 yards in the minute, or seven miles per hour, 168 miles per day and 6,320 miles per year. If a man of eighty-four years of age could have one single blood corpuscle floating in his blood all his life it would have traveled in that same time 5,150,808 miles.

TEMPER.

If a man has a quarrelsome temper, let him alone. The world will soon find him employment. He will soon meet with some one stronger than himself who will repay him better than you can. A man may fight duels all his life if he is disposed to quarrel.—Cecil.

"You can't imagine how romantic it is where we live! At night, when every one is asleep, sometimes I hear the nightingale singing in the woods. Then I take my horn and accompany him for hours."—Fliegende Blätter.

—New York Mail.

"I'm afraid you have lost interest in your art collection."

"Yes," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "You see, mother and the girls went around and removed all the price tags, and now I can't tell which to appreciate most."—Washington Star.

Louise—What's the punster? Are you afraid to say "How do you do" to Mrs. Talkem?

Julia—No; I'm afraid she'll answer.—Judge.

Bacon—He told me he'd never get tired of hearing her voice. Egbert—And did he? "He certainly did." "Married her?" "No; a neighbor had some phonograph records she made."—Yonkers Statesman.

"I told Mrs. Malaprop that affairs just now were in a rotten condition." "What did she say?" "That such a terrible statement put her in a state of purrfection."—Baltimore American.

"What sort of woman is she?" "Why, she's the sort of woman that finds delight in reading all the stuff that's printed about the new babies of the idle rich."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Baker—Who's that girl who plays golf all day and bridge all night?" Barker—Oh, that's Manning's daughter. She's up here with a nurse taking a rest cure.—Life.

When father drove old Dobbin he sat upon his load
And frowned on every chauffeur who wanted the road.
When father got an auto his feelings seemed to switch—
He glared at every horse he met unless it took the ditch.
—Lippincott's Magazine.

"Will your wife's vacation cost you much?" "I don't know. I hope she's won enough at bridge to offset the chin I've broken."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A doctor, amazed to find a patient in a cold bath, began to scold him. "What's this?" he said. "Did I order you to take a bath?"

"Sure! You told me to take these pills in water."—New York World.

"Life is full of inconsistencies," mused the philosopher.

"Yes," replied the cynic, "in dry towns people lay aside most for a rainy day."—Buffalo Express.

May had no voice, but she could cook, So she went on the stage. Jane has a wondrous voice, and look! To cook is her one rage.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Camp Wrangell of the Arctic Brotherhood have in conformity with the prevailing custom of the Brotherhood all over this Northland arranged for a Xmas Tree on Xmas Eve. The teachers of our public school and the native school as well, have kindly consented to take charge of the usual children's exercises for the evening; the Churches and Sunday-school organization of the city have also promised to co-operate with us, all bent on making this the Holiday's event.

While the Brotherhood aims to remember all the children, still we know, that if the people generally, that have their children and friends in view for presents, will come and join us it will lend attraction to the affair and make the evening more entertaining.

Before closing, the committee desires to say to the good ladies of Wrangell who have been associated in this line of work in former years, will kindly aid us with suggestions, we can assure them that it wouldnt only be welcome but, sincerely appreciated.

Reports Gordon

Drowned.

Hyda John Pete, an Indian from Kake who recently came south from Juneau, reports the drowning of Alfred Gordon, recently near one of the small villages on the Juneau Sitka mail route. Gordon was a musician of ability and will be remembered by many Wrangellites as the coronet player of the Wrangell band organized last July.

Falls Overboard With Child.

Geo. Skelton who for several months has been employed by the Columbia & Northern people about their boat Telegraph and, of late Ida May, met with a serious mishap Sunday evening which endangered both his two-year-old son's life and his own. About six o'clock he went down to the Company's dock where the Ida May was tied, intending to go aboard and make things ship-shape for Monday's trip, taking his boy in his arms while going down the ladder. In getting aboard the boat it swung away from the wharf dropping them both into the cold water where they remained until the cries brought help from the float in a skiff. By the time the pair were pulled out of the water quite a crowd with lights had assembled on the dock. Both Skelton and the baby seem to have escaped any harm resulting from the accident.

Shows Him Up.

Deep deep is the mind of M. Katzenmeyer. He actually is deep enough to get some free advertising from the Sentinel. Under pretense of helping the ed to concoct a belated leap-year joke he hinted that the Sentinel might publish a warning to old maids that Leap-year is fast fading. Now if M. was a very young man or a married young or old man or anything but a bashful bachelor it might go but from M. it is awful. Can't you see it—in enjoining old maids to leap before it is to late he expects to get the first results of the movement. It's a big scoop for the Sentinel to show up such a deep designing bachelor.

Dialects.
Of the 3,424 known dialects in the world over one-fourth are Asiatic.

Washington's Hand.
George Washington's hand was described as that of a giant. On the last occasion of General Lafayette's visit to this country he remarked to Mr. Custis when referring to a former visit: "You were holding to single finger of the good general's remarkable hand—the greatest feat you could perform at that time."

A Fox to Books.
The most ancient destroyer of books known was the Babylonian king, Nabonassar, who in the third century B. C. destroyed all the records of the reigns and rulers precedent to himself.

Complexion Masks.
Ladies of quality originally wore masks either to protect their complexions from the burning sun or out of modesty to prevent them from being recognized while out of doors. Popaea, the wife of Nero, was said to have been the inventor of the mask, but the common use of it in public was not observed till the end of the sixteenth century.

A Man's Blood.
The blood of an average grown man weighs twenty pounds.

Horace Greeley's Funeral.
The day Horace Greeley was buried at Greenwood cemetery, Nov. 29, 1872, stores were closed and houses along the route were draped in black. Flags on the shipping, in the harbor, were at half mast, and bells tolled from 1 to 3 o'clock. Two hundred and fifty carriages, containing the president of the United States, senators and other friends, were in the procession. It was one of the most notable funerals ever held in New York city.

Farmers.
Sing a song of farmers.
Up at early morn.
With four-and-twenty chores to do
Before the breakfast horn.
When the breakfast's over
There's little to be done
Except to plow the fodder,
And let the harrow run.
And mow the sheep, and prune the beets.
And carry up the swine,
And shear the hens, and dig the hay.
And shoe the gentle king
And saw the wheat and rake the rye.
And wash and dress the land
And things like that which city folks
Can never understand.

—Life.

This Is Not Intended For Husbands.
A correspondent sends us the following bit of matrimonial philosophy which she vouches for as both original and recent. There is a quaint and homely recipe involved in it that may be found helpful in many households.
Young Lady—What is the secret of your happy life with both your husbands—two such different men?
Old Lady—Why, I guess I wasn't fussy over trifles. And then I let them have their own way sometimes. They thought they always did.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Irremediable Ire.
Anger that I can't erase
Comes to me, nor passes off.
When I start to wash my face
Before I take my glasses off.
W. B. B.

How many a magazine I read
With wondrous stories in! You'd
Get just as mad as I, indeed.
To read the word (Continued).
—E. W. H. in New York Mail.

He Had an Explanation.
A committee had the state senator on the carpet.
" Didn't you promise if we elected you to get our county good roads?"
" Why, certainly, gentlemen."
" Did you do it?"
" No. You see, airships are getting very common now. I thought we'd better wait a few years. Maybe we won't need any roads at all then. Fine weather for corn, isn't it?"—Kansas City Journal.

The Magic Note.
I said: "You are my love, my life.
Now, dearest, won't you be my wife?"
She did not answer "No" nor "Yes."
Just what was wrong I could not guess.
But when I said that I believed
In woman suffrage I perceived
I'd struck the magic note, and, bless
Her little heart, she answered, "Yes."
—Judge.

Bliss at Last.
Friend—Given up housekeeping and gone to a hotel, eh? How do you like hotel life?
McTiff—First rate. Never was so happy in my life.

Friend—Where are you staying?
McTiff—I'm at the St. Charles, and my wife's at the St. James.—London Opinion.

Dwindling.
It used to be her bathing suit
Took up small space and flat.
But the stuff for her noble skirt
Takes less than half of that —Houston Post.

Thrifty.
She—I'm going to give you back our engagement ring. I love another.
He—Give me his name and address.
She—Horrors! Do you mean to go and kill him?
He—No. I want to sell him the ring.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Just a Workout.
The convicts played a baseball game
While smiles enwrapped their faces.
The players should go down to fame.
For each stole fourteen bases.
—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Mrs. Nagg is thinking of visiting the Thousand islands." "I understand Mr. Nagg would be glad to have her spend six months on each one."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

intention to build an extensive foundation and to build a warehouse thereon and to move the small frame house and shed which now fronts the street back onto the new foundation. More direct inquiries brought forth the information that a new building is to be erected on Front Street to occupy the space between the Columbia & Northern office and the Shurick Drng Co's. building.

As to Seattle capital being interested in the project, Mr. Lemieux was noncommittal, stating that in three weeks time he would be able to make known his plans as arrangements under consideration at present that would be completed in that time.

Wednesday evening the Kassan boats Active and Pride with twenty-three natives, relatives of Mrs. L. M. Churchill, arrived in Wrangell bringing a headstone which was placed at the grave of Mrs. Churchill's mother this morning.

David Thompson Passed Away.

David Thompson, who for about a year made his home with Marshall Schnabel on Federal Hill, passed away last week after an illness of about a week. Mr. Thompson was born in Rauch Bueto, New Brunswick, in 1839. At the age of 25 years he obtained full citizenship papers. Since 1881 he has been in the Northland prospecting and mining, and during that time made and lost fortunes. Among his many friends and for years a partner of Mr. Thompson in mining ventures on the Yukon, was Wm. F. Schnabel, present Deputy Marshall, at whose home Thompson has spent the last months of his life.

Funeral services will be held at the Schnabel home at 1 o'clock Friday evening, Adjutant Smith officiating,
